

SIXTH FORM ESSAY COMPETITION 2019

“What does the Anthropocene mean to you? How would you define it?”

“Is the modern world in a state of crisis? Are we facing a civilisational collapse?”

We are looking for interesting answers to your choice of these questions about the wider world in the modern day. Choose one title for your essay answer, the word limit is 1000 words. Approach your question from any perspective you wish, with any ideas, novel answers are encouraged!

You don't have to be studying Geography to take part and there are no right or wrong answers - we're looking for critical, well-researched essays with a bit of outside-the-box thinking!

The winning entry will be published in our next print issue in November 2019 and runners-up will be published on our online blog; all winners will also receive a book token. The first prize also includes a visit to our Department and an opportunity to meet some of our academics and students.

HOW TO ENTER:
Send your entry with the subject line “Essay Competition” along with your contact details and name of your school to: ewsc2@cam.ac.uk

CLOSING DATE:
30th September 2019
Winners will be announced in early October.
